Jason Burke brings a depth of knowledge and a diverse background rarely found in a non-attorney neutral. Jason fluidly applies his vast military and federal government experience to civil and government cases expanding the scope of options and solutions. Service members, families, contractors and large corporation entities feel comfortable and appreciated for what each individual brings to the table. His extensive network of military experienced mediators facilitates a nearly global span of resources able to remedy a variety of obstacles.

With experience in natural disaster loss claims, international claims against the US Government, contract oversight and enforcement, income tax assistance, and US Citizen services abroad, Jason has proven his capacity to understand and develop solutions in a variety of situations. His in-depth exposure to Military courts, investigations, and adverse personnel actions provides a tempered approach to personnel arbitration while experience living and working abroad aid in cross-cultural understanding.

Jason's growing reputation within the community and his proven ability to perform as a neutral make him an ideal candidate for all of your Alternative Dispute Resolution needs.
